S. S. Birmingham, Salem, and Chester, having finished the work assigned to it, respectfully submits, as directed, the following report, embracing an analysis of the results obtained, together with a copy of the data recorded during the various tests made. Object and Description of Tests. The object of the tests was to ascertain and compare the steam economy of the three types of propelling machinery fitted in the vessels named, the hulls being practically of the same model, at various speeds while underway and under as nearly as possible identical conditions. To accomplish this, special water-measuring apparatus was built and installed in each ship for the tests, and so arranged that the weight of steam used by the propelling, machinery, as well as the auxiliaries, could be, after condensation, separately and...
